Strategic report

Principal activity

The principal activity of the company is the development of new technology and products and the provision of related consulting services.

Review of the business and future developments

Our consulting activity continues to grow and to achieve high performance driven by our strategic focus on key markets.

We had a strong performance during the year. Sales exceeded targets and consulting fees have been close to the planned levels. However, while costs have increased, resulting in a lower margin compared to last year, overall profitability for the year has met target.

In line with our strategic focus, we have made significant progress in key target markets. We have invested in developing insight, expertise, and technology in these high-value markets, positioning ourselves for future growth. Our recruitment capability has developed well to meet the needs of the business. We have increased the operating headcount bringing greater diversity and range of expertise and allowing us to deliver exceptional solutions more effectively and address more ambitious projects for our clients.

Looking forward, the outlook in the coming year looks more challenging. The broader economic situation and prevailing uncertainty has had an impact on corporate and investor confidence which will affect performance in some sectors. We need to carefully balance our focus across established and future markets and moderate growth ambitions.

Financial performance

Turnover was £58.0m (2022 – £58.2m). The decrease over last year is attributable to a combination of higher fee income and recharged project expenses being offset by lower licence and royalty income. Operating expenses were £46.0m (2022 - £39.6m), including staff costs of £26.1m (2022 - £22.5m). Staff costs increased due to the increase in headcount and an increase in per capita employment costs. The operating profit was £13.9m (2022 - £20.6m) and the profit before tax was £13.9m (2022 - £20.0m). Profit for the year was £13.7m (2022 - £18.7m).

Dividends of £15.0m (2022 - £37.0m) were paid to the parent company during the year. Net assets at the balance sheet date were £18.8m (2022 - £20.0m).

Principal risks and uncertainties

Market risk

The company faces the risk of competition from other companies involved in the development of new products and the provision of related consulting services. Additionally, the company faces the risk of the loss of major clients, a reduction in demand, and pressure on product prices and consulting rates. We manage these risks by constantly striving to provide a first-class service to our clients, maintaining a balanced portfolio of work, fostering a culture of innovation amongst our staff and pursuing market opportunities wherever they are identified.

Operational risk

There is a risk that the company will not be able to recruit and retain sufficient numbers of technical experts to undertake the services the company offers to clients. We manage this risk through our recruitment policies and offering attractive career and professional development opportunities. Because of the nature of the company's services, there is also a risk of claims of professional negligence, third party intellectual property infringement or product failure. We manage these risks through our processes of internal review and accountability and the maintenance of appropriate insurances.

The needs of key stakeholders

Company law places duties on the directors to act in the way they consider, in good faith, would be most likely to promote the success of the company for the benefit of the shareholder. In doing so they are to have regard (amongst other matters) to: the likely consequences of any decision in the long term, the interests of the company's employees and other stakeholders and the effect of the company's operations on the community and the environment.

The board meets monthly and reviews financial, commercial and staff-related information relating to the company. In their decision-making, the directors seek to consider the long-term consequences of any decision and the impact on the staff and other key stakeholders. Decisions are made on the basis of a consensus of the board. The key stakeholders of the business, their needs, and how the board has had regard thereto, are set out below.

Employees

The expertise and commitment of the staff make the company what it is: a successful consulting-based enterprise, providing world-class services to a wide-ranging portfolio of clients. To a large extent it is the staff who determine the markets and industry sectors the company operates in and who set recruitment levels and the nature of the recruitment effort. The directors' role is largely one of oversight, enabling and rewarding, such that this mode of working – which has characterised the company since its inception – is maintained. Further details pertaining to employees' involvement in the business are to be found in the directors' report.

Clients and customers

Core to the company's enduring commercial success is the provision of the highest quality services to our clients. Our staff seek to understand clients' needs, communicate with them throughout the course of an assignment, and strive to deliver valuable solutions. The directors look to support and encourage the staff in this.

Suppliers

Our suppliers comprise another key stakeholder class. The directors ensure that the company deals appropriately with its suppliers, including as regards payment practices.

Shareholder

The company is wholly-owned by TTP Group Limited. Some board members are also directors of TTP Group, so the needs of the wider group are known, as are the implications on fellow group companies of company decisions.

Wider community

The company recognises that the local community is also, collectively, a stakeholder. Our staff benefit from the facilities and cultural life of the region. The company, partly via the parent company, provides support to the local community, through sponsorship of the arts, the making of grants to charitable and other community bodies, and the participation in networking and local area strategic planning groups.

Our business operated from Melbourn Science Park until April 2023 and then from TTP Campus. The effects of our day-to-day operations on the local community and environment are minimal. Of more significance is our travel pattern: we have clients worldwide and face-to-face engagement with them is regarded as essential to the successful provision of consulting services. This has inevitably meant that our staff have been involved in significant amounts of motor and air travel.

Financial risk management objectives and policies

The company has financial assets in the form of investments, trade debtors, amounts recoverable on contracts and cash. The company's trade debtors and contract balances arise directly from its operations. There is a risk of non-recovery, but as our clients are generally well-established the risk of this is low. We manage the risk by normal credit control processes. Cash is managed on a group treasury basis by the parent undertaking, TTP Group Limited ('TTP Group'). TTP Group in turn holds cash and term deposits. The latter are held for the purpose of providing a return to the group. The company's financial liabilities comprise trade creditors and contract-related payments received on account.

Sam Hyde
Andrew Baker-Campbell
Douglas Bradshaw (resigned 8 July 2022)
Matthew Carr
Keith Haddow
Chantal Taylor
Richard Walker

Going concern

The company's business activities, together with the factors likely to affect its future development, performance and position, are set out in the strategic report. The strategic report also describes the financial position of the company and gives details of the company's financial instruments and the risks relating thereto.

The company is party to a cross-guarantee arrangement with a number of the other companies in the group headed by TTP Group Ltd ('TTP Group') in connection with a bank loan. Further, the company is part of a group treasury arrangement whereby funds are 'swept' to/from TTP Group. The company's going concern status is therefore linked to that of the group and, accordingly, the directors have obtained a support letter from TTP Group. This letter indicates that TTP Group is able and willing to provide sufficient resources as required to enable the company to meet its liabilities as they fall due over the going concern assessment period to 30 September 2024. The directors have considered the ability of TTP Group to provide such support.

The group has recently re-financed its bank loan. The forecasts prepared by the directors of TTP Group indicate that the group will be compliant with the covenants attaching to the loan throughout the going concern review period and will have sufficient cash to meet liabilities as they fall due.

However, recognising the inherent uncertainties in any forecast, the directors of TTP Group have stress-tested the forecast. Scenarios that have been considered include a failure to secure third party investors for the group's loss-making subsidiaries and/or additional bank loan funding being unavailable and the overdraft facility not renewed. In these circumstances, to avoid the risk of breach of loan covenants, the directors of TTP Group have identified mitigating actions which could be taken. These are the reduction in activity or closure of these subsidiaries and the deferral of a proportion of the next planned gift to the EOT in September 2024. These mitigating actions would also provide additional liquidity should the conservative trading assumptions in the forecast not be achieved.

In the view of the TTP Group directors the group has sufficient cash to meet its liabilities as they fall due for the going concern assessment period to 30 September 2024. The directors of this company concur with that assessment. Accordingly, these accounts are prepared on a going concern basis.

Directors' and officers' indemnity insurance

The company, in conjunction with the parent and fellow subsidiary undertakings, has taken out insurance to indemnify, against third party proceedings, the directors of the company. This indemnity policy subsisted throughout the year and remains in place at the date of this report.

Research and development

The principal activity of the company continues to include research and the development of new technologies and products.

Employee participation

The company relies upon the skills of its highly qualified staff. Their welfare is a high priority within the company. Employees are informed and consulted on matters affecting them as employees – and on the financial and commercial factors affecting the company – through regular informal meetings.

The group of which the company is part is owned by an Employee Ownership Trust (EOT). As such every employee has an indirect interest in the ownership of the company. The strategic report on page 3 contains further information pertaining to the directors' duties regarding employees and their interests.

Engagement with suppliers, clients and others

During the ordinary course of business, the company engages with a large number of suppliers, clients and others (charities, community organisations etc). The strategic report contains further information pertaining to the directors' duties regarding external stakeholders and their interests.

Disclosure of information to the auditor

So far as each director is aware, there is no relevant audit information of which the company's auditor is unaware. Each director has taken all steps that he ought to have taken in his duty as a director in order to make himself aware of any relevant audit information and to establish that the company's auditor is aware of that information.

By order of the board

Keith Haddow Secretary

Statement of directors' responsibilities

The directors are responsible for preparing the report and accounts in accordance with applicable law and regulations.

Company law requires the directors to prepare accounts for each financial year. Under that law the directors have elected to prepare the accounts in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice (United Kingdom accounting standards and applicable law), including FRS 102 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland'. Under company law the directors must not approve the accounts unless they are satisfied that they give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the company and of the profit or loss for that period.

In preparing those accounts, the directors are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state whether applicable UK accounting standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the accounts; and
- prepare the accounts on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the company will continue in business.

The directors are responsible for keeping adequate accounting records that are sufficient to show and explain the company's transactions and disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the company and enable them to ensure that the accounts comply with the Companies Act 2006. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

Independent auditor's report to the shareholder of TTP plc

Opinion

We have audited the accounts of TTP plc for the year ended 31 March 2023 which comprise the profit and loss account, statement of changes in equity, balance sheet and the related notes 1 to 21, including a summary of significant accounting policies. The financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards including FRS 102 "The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland" (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

In our opinion, the accounts:

- give a true and fair view of the company's affairs as at 31 March 2023 and of its profit for the year then ended;
- have been properly prepared in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice; and
- have been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 2006.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK) (ISAs (UK)) and applicable law. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the accounts section of our report. We are independent of the company in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the accounts in the UK, including the FRC's Ethical Standard and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Conclusions relating to going concern

In auditing the accounts, we have concluded that the directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the accounts is appropriate.

Based on the work we have performed, we have not identified any material uncertainties relating to events or conditions that, individually or collectively, may cast significant doubt on the company's ability to continue as a going concern for the period to 30 September 2024.

Our responsibilities and the responsibilities of the directors with respect to going concern are described in the relevant sections of this report. However, because not all future events or conditions can be predicted, this statement is not a guarantee as to the company's ability to continue as a going concern.

Other information

The other information comprises the information included in the annual report, other than the accounts and our auditor's report thereon. The directors are responsible for the other information contained within the annual report.

Our opinion on the accounts does not cover the other information and, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in this report, we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

Our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the accounts or our knowledge obtained in the course of the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If we identify such material inconsistencies or apparent material misstatements, we are required to determine whether this gives rise to a material misstatement in the accounts themselves. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of the other information, we are required to report that fact.

We have nothing to report in this regard.

Opinions on other matters prescribed by the Companies Act 2006

In our opinion, based on the work undertaken in the course of the audit:

- the information given in the strategic report and the directors' report for the financial year for which the accounts are prepared is consistent with the accounts; and
- the strategic report and directors' report have been prepared in accordance with applicable legal requirements.

Matters on which we are required to report by exception

In the light of the knowledge and understanding of the company and its environment obtained in the course of the audit, we have not identified material misstatements in the strategic report or directors' report.

We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters in relation to which the Companies Act 2006 requires us to report to you if, in our opinion:

- adequate accounting records have not been kept or returns adequate for our audit have not been received from branches not visited by us; or
- the accounts are not in agreement with the accounting records and returns; or
- certain disclosures of directors' remuneration specified by law are not made; or
- we have not received all the information and explanations we require for our audit.

Responsibilities of directors

As explained more fully in the directors' responsibilities statement set out on page 8 the directors are responsible for the preparation of the accounts and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view, and for such internal control as the directors determine is necessary to enable the preparation of accounts that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the accounts, the directors are responsible for assessing the company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the directors either intend to liquidate the company or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the accounts

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the accounts as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (UK) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these accounts.

Explanation as to what extent the audit was considered capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud
Irregularities, including fraud, are instances of non-compliance with laws and regulations. We design procedures in line with our responsibilities, outlined above, to detect irregularities, including fraud. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement due to fraud is higher than the risk of not detecting one resulting from error, as fraud may involve deliberate concealment by, for example, forgery or intentional misrepresentations, or through collusion. The extent to which our procedures are capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud is detailed below. However, the primary responsibility for the prevention and detection of fraud rests with both those charged with governance of the entity and management.

- We obtained an understanding of the legal and regulatory frameworks that are applicable to the company and determined that the most significant are those that relate to the reporting framework (UK GAAP), the Companies Act 2006 and the relevant tax compliance regulations in the jurisdictions in which the company operates.
- We understood how TTP Plc is complying with those frameworks by making enquiries of management and by identifying the company's policies and procedures regarding compliance with laws and regulations. We corroborated these enquiries through our review of board meeting minutes. We gained an understanding of the entity level controls of the company to understand the culture of honest and ethical behaviour, including the emphasis on fraud prevention.
- We assessed the susceptibility of the company's accounts to material misstatement, including how fraud might occur through our discussions with management within various parts of the business to understand where there is susceptibility for fraud. We also gained an understanding and assessed the internal controls designed by the company to prevent, deter and detect fraud.

Explanation as to what extent the audit was considered capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud (continued)

- Based on this understanding we designed our audit procedures to identify noncompliance with such laws and regulations. Our procedures involved testing journal entries with a focus on large or unusual transactions and enquiries of legal counsel. Furthermore, we performed procedures to conclude on the compliance of disclosures made in the annual report and accounts with all applicable requirements.

A further description of our responsibilities for the audit of the accounts is located on the Financial Reporting Council's website at <https://www.frc.org.uk/auditorsresponsibilities>. This description forms part of our auditor's report.

Use of our report

This report is made solely to the company's shareholder in accordance with Chapter 3 of Part 16 of the Companies Act 2006. Our audit work has been undertaken so that we might state to the company's shareholder those matters we are required to state to them in an auditor's report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the company and the company's shareholder for our audit work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed.

1 CORPORATE INFORMATION

TTP plc is a public company limited by shares and incorporated in England and Wales. The registered office is shown on page 2. The company's operations and activities are described in the strategic report.

2 ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of accounting

The accounts are prepared in accordance with accounting standards, including FRS 102 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland' (Revised 2018). The accounts are prepared in sterling, which is the functional currency of the company, and rounded to the nearest £1,000.

Going concern

The company's business activities, together with the factors likely to affect its future development, performance and position, are set out in the strategic report. The strategic report also describes the financial position of the company and gives details of the company's financial instruments and the risks relating thereto.

The company is party to a cross-guarantee arrangement with a number of the other companies in the group headed by TTP Group Ltd ('TTP Group') in connection with a bank loan. Further, the company is part of a group treasury arrangement whereby funds are 'swept' to/from TTP Group. Cash flow statement

The company has taken the exemption from preparing a cash flow statement under the terms of FRS 102, as the ultimate parent undertaking prepares a consolidated cash flow statement, which includes the results of this company, and which is publicly available.

Financial instruments

The company has taken the exemption under the terms of FRS 102 from disclosing the measurement bases, carrying values by category and the other accounting policies used for financial instruments.

Judgements and key sources of estimation uncertainty

The preparation of the accounts requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported for assets and liabilities, revenues and expenses. However, the nature of estimation means that actual outcomes may differ from those estimates. The key assumptions and sources of estimation uncertainty arise from the following:

Research and development expenditure credit

The company recognises this income based on management judgement as to which activities are eligible according to the criteria set out in the relevant legislation.

Consulting fees

The company undertakes consultancy projects and uses the stage of completion method for determining attributable revenue and profit, as set out in 'Accounting for contracts', below. The state of completeness of each project, and hence revenue and profit recognised, requires the use of estimates. Management apply their judgement in assessing the costs required to complete the projects.

Tangible fixed assets

Tangible fixed assets are stated at cost or valuation less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses.

Depreciation is provided at rates calculated to write off the cost less estimated residual value of each asset on a straight-line basis over its estimated useful life as follows:

Plant and equipment: 3 - 5 years

The carrying values of tangible fixed assets are reviewed for impairment when events or changes in circumstances indicate the carrying value may not be recoverable.

Revenue recognition

Consulting fees

Turnover in respect of consulting fees represents the proportion of contract value applicable to the activity in the period, including rebillable costs and handling charges, ascertained by reference to valuation of the work carried out to date. The related costs are matched with this turnover, resulting in the reporting of attributable profit proportionate to the contract activity.

Estimates of total contract costs and revenues are reviewed periodically, and the cumulative effect of changes are recognised in the period in which they are identified. All known or anticipated losses are provided for in full as soon as they are foreseen.

Net costs incurred in excess of amounts transferred to cost of sales and revenues recognised in excess of amounts billed are classified as amounts recoverable under contracts and included in debtors. Amounts billed in excess of revenues recognised to date are classified as payments on account and included in creditors.

Turnover arising from project expenses recharged is recognised as it is billed.

Licences and royalties

Revenue from the grant of perpetual or non-exclusive licences is recognised when a contract is signed, delivery has occurred, the sales price is fixed, collectability is probable, and no significant obligations remain. Otherwise, revenue is recognised over the period of the licence. Royalty revenues are recognised on a receivable basis based on sales of units arising during each accounting period as reported by licensees.

Notes to the accounts

31 March 2023

Foreign currency

Transactions denominated in foreign currencies are recorded in the local currency at actual exchange rates as at the date of the transaction. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are retranslated at the rate of exchange prevailing at the balance sheet date. Any gain or loss arising is included in the profit and loss account.

Pensions

The company participates in a Group Personal Pension Plan. Contributions are charged to the profit and loss account as they become payable in accordance with the plan rules.

Operating leases

Rentals payable under operating leases are charged in the profit and loss account on a straight line basis.

Research and development expenditure

Research and development expenditure is written off through the profit and loss account in the year of expenditure.

Research and development expenditure credit

Qualifying costs incurred on consulting activities and research and development entitle the company to a payment from HM Revenue & Customs. This payment, which has the nature of a government grant, is credited to other operating income so as to match the expenditure to which it relates.

Investments

Investments are initially accounted for at cost and subsequently held at cost less provision for diminution in value, unless the investment relates to publicly traded shares or their fair value can otherwise be measured reliably, in which case they are measured at fair value with changes in fair value recognised in profit or loss.

Stocks

Stocks are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost includes all costs incurred in bringing each product to its present location and condition, as follows:

Work in progress	- cost of direct materials and labour plus attributable overheads based on a normal level of activity applicable to TTP plc.
------------------	--

Net realisable value is based on estimated selling price less any further costs expected to be incurred to completion and disposal.

Deferred taxation

Deferred tax is recognised in respect of all timing differences, except that deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that the directors consider it probable that they will be recovered against the reversal of deferred tax liabilities or other future taxable profits. Timing differences arise when incomes or expenses are recognised in the taxable profit in a different period to their recognition in the accounting profit.

Deferred tax is measured on an undiscounted basis at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the periods in which timing differences reverse, based on tax rates and laws enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date.

Notes to the accounts

3 TURNOVER

Turnover represents the amounts derived from the provision of goods and services which fall within the company's ordinary activities, stated net of value added tax. Turnover is analysed by activity as follows:

	2023 £000	2022 £000
Consulting fees	48,650	48,244
Project expenses recharged	6,665	6,183
Licence income, royalty income and sale of IP	2,673	3,821
	57,988	58,248

All turnover arises within the United Kingdom and was contributed from the following geographical markets:

	2023 £000	2022 £000
United Kingdom	17,667	18,001
